Experience CUBIC first hand

Arrange a visit to CUBIC's amazing showroom & headquarters, where you can meet the owners, the team, and enjoy a comprehensive factory tour.

Model of cooperation with showrooms

By offering CUBIC Outdoor Living products to your clients, you will gain access to exclusive garden kitchens and a number of benefits that make this cooperation financially attractive for your business.

Regional exclusivity

Each CUBIC partner receives exclusivity for a specific region. Your showroom will be the only location in the area where customers can view and order our garden kitchens.

Lead sharing from continuous brand awareness campaigns

As part of our partnership, we'll ensure that leads are forwarded to those interested in your offer. Architects and clients in the region will be referred to your showroom.

Design and marketing support

We provide materials and staff training to ensure showroom staff can best present products and maximise sales. A simple planning process, supported by CUBIC designers, allows you to quickly create a proposal with a design and visualisation of the outdoor kitchen & furniture.

Attractive commissions

Our partnership is based on transparent margins that depend only on the type of display investment in your showroom. Even a small display guarantees attractive financial returns.

Kitchen Appliances & Outdoor Equipment

Outdoor cooking is about more than preparing food.
It is the pleasure of creating something special and sharing it with the people who matter, under an open sky.

For clients who are truly passionate about outdoor cooking, the choice of equipment becomes an essential part of that experience. Whether it is a high-performance gas grill, a ceramic kamado, a professional pizza oven or an Argentinian grill, the pursuit of perfect flavour and precise temperature control is often a personal journey.

This is where CUBIC naturally fits in, offering seamless integration with selected premium appliances such as Flammkraft, Fogher Big Green Egg and other luxury brands from our portfolio.

High-end CUBIC outdoor kitchens are designed to complement this level of equipment. Superior materials, refined aesthetics, long-term durability and full weather resistance come together to offer far greater culinary possibilities than standard solutions. Combined, they form a coherent and balanced system that elevates outdoor cooking to its highest expression.

Beyond cooking itself, CUBIC kitchens can be equipped with a wide range of thoughtfully integrated features from cooling and hygiene solutions to warming drawers, advanced lighting and even invisible induction cooking, allowing each project to be tailored precisely to the expectations of a premium client.

Elevate your profits with premium brands

Showroom owners can expand their offering by becoming retailers of these recommended brands.
It adds value to the overall project value and margin.

Frequently asked questions

Are luxury garden kitchens selling well in the UK?

Garden kitchens have been rapidly gaining popularity. The market for bespoke kitchens increased by 60% last year vs 2024.

Who is the end customer for this product?

Wealthy owners with a garden or terrace who value comfort, design and prestige. Sociable people who like to stand out from their friends.

What size should the showroom display be?

It's best to show the maximum number of features that will fit the space.

How do you deal with customer inquiries?

Every inquiry from clients and architects to CUBIC or Urban Outdoors is forwarded to the local showroom.

Design process and lead time

CUBIC Partners only need to enter dimensions or supply a sketch to the Cubic Portal and a factory Designer will create a layout with visuals and pricing. Production lead time is typically 8 weeks.

What does the assembly of a CUBIC kitchen look like?

The kitchen arrives mostly assembled. The installation team completes the connections, levels the legs, and attaches the countertop.

What is the average order value?

Throughout Europe, trade order values are typically 25k€-50k€, but have exceeded 100k€ in prestigious projects.

What is the warranty for CUBIC garden kitchens?

The kitchens are covered by a 5-year manufacturer's warranty for individual customers with on-the-ground UK support.

Are CUBIC kitchens resistant to local weather conditions?

The kitchens are completely waterproof, resistant to frost, precipitation, and sudden temperature fluctuations.

What are the customization options for CUBIC garden kitchens?

Because each kitchen is custom-built from scratch, any layout and size of furniture and countertops is possible. The kitchen can also be customised to accommodate any appliance.
